GLADIOLUS BULBS... DIGGING TIME PRICES SEPTEMBER 1943

We are listing at this time only Gladiolus bulbs because of the shortage of labor we cannot spare help at this time for the digging of Regale Lilies and the packing and shipping of Regale Lilies and Tulips. The harvesting of the gladiolus bulbs will require all of our time and we will do well to get them all out before freezing weather.

Since the war started we have lost eight of our experienced men to the service. Son Jack being the last to go because he is married and has a daughter, Gretchen. He is now in the navy. If we have failed to answer any of your letters this summer or if we have been slow in answering it is because we have been very short of help and hence could not find time to do many things that needed to be done and that we would like to do. So please bear with us and we will do our best to meet your requirements.

BULB CROP. We have reduced our acreage this season because of the labor situation and hence will have less stock to offer. The prospect is for a crop of good quality but smaller in bulk. We will start digging this month.

SHIPMENTS. We cannot promise to ship before January because we cannot dig, clean and grade for shipping before that time EXTRAS. You will all have liberal extras included in your shipment and if you want something special as to variety please advise and we will do our best to include this variety.

ORDERS. The planting of Gladiolus is much reduced by all growers this season. (Some growers have discontinued entirely.) We are no exception, our planting is smaller and we will not get out a catalog this season. The demand will be heavier than the supply of bulbs. We therefore suggest that you order early from this list and not wait until we get out a later list, because I am quite sure we will be sold out of a number of varieties from this first list.

SECOND CHOICE. We also suggest that you make a second choice in your first order because some stocks are small and a whole-sale order at any time may take all of the large bulbs of one variety.

PRICES. Prices are necessarily higher because of the greatly increased cost of production. Our labor is costing us about double what it did two to three years ago. Hence we must ask higher prices for bulbs.

We are listing very few small bulbs and bulblets this season because we did not plant as many bulblets as usual.

P. S.—If you have an emergency order that you wish shipped in December, please advise and we will do our best to meet your requirements. We have four experienced men about which we have built our new organization and we are getting more efficient all the time. I believe our organization will be able to take care of our Fall orders O. K. but it will require a little more time than formerly.
